Women's History Month

Women's History Month is a celebration of women's contributions to history, culture and society. The month is a dedication to the often-overlooked contributions of women to United States history. As recently as the 1970's, women's history was an unknown topic. President Jimmy Carter, in 1980, issued the first presidential proclamation declaring the week of March 8 as National Women's History Week. The U.S. Congress followed suit the next year, passing a resolution establishing a national celebration. Unfortunately for too long and too often women were the unsung (she)roes and their contributions went unnoticed. The achievements, leadership, courage and strength that women have put forward is worth recognition. However, despite significant progress, women continue to face systemic barriers to full and equal participation in our economy and society.

As a woman and an elected official, I think it is important that I strive to make a difference in the Criminal Court Clerk's Office and in the community. It is my belief that women bring new and different perspectives on policy, processes and produce positive outcomes. What I have found is that my experiences have shaped how I govern. I was taught to treat everyone with respect, provide for the

Meet the Judge

Judge David Pool is a native Memphian. Judge Pool is a graduate of Memphis Catholic High School, and the University of Memphis where he earned a Bachelor of Commercial Music, a Master of Art in Teaching and a law degree from the Cecil C. Humphreys School of Law.

Prior to law school, Judge Pool worked as a high school music and English teacher. He left teaching to become a professional musician for seven years, performing in the United States and Europe. He had the opportunity to play with Hootie and the Blowfish, Dickey Betts, Jim Ed Brown and John Cafferty.

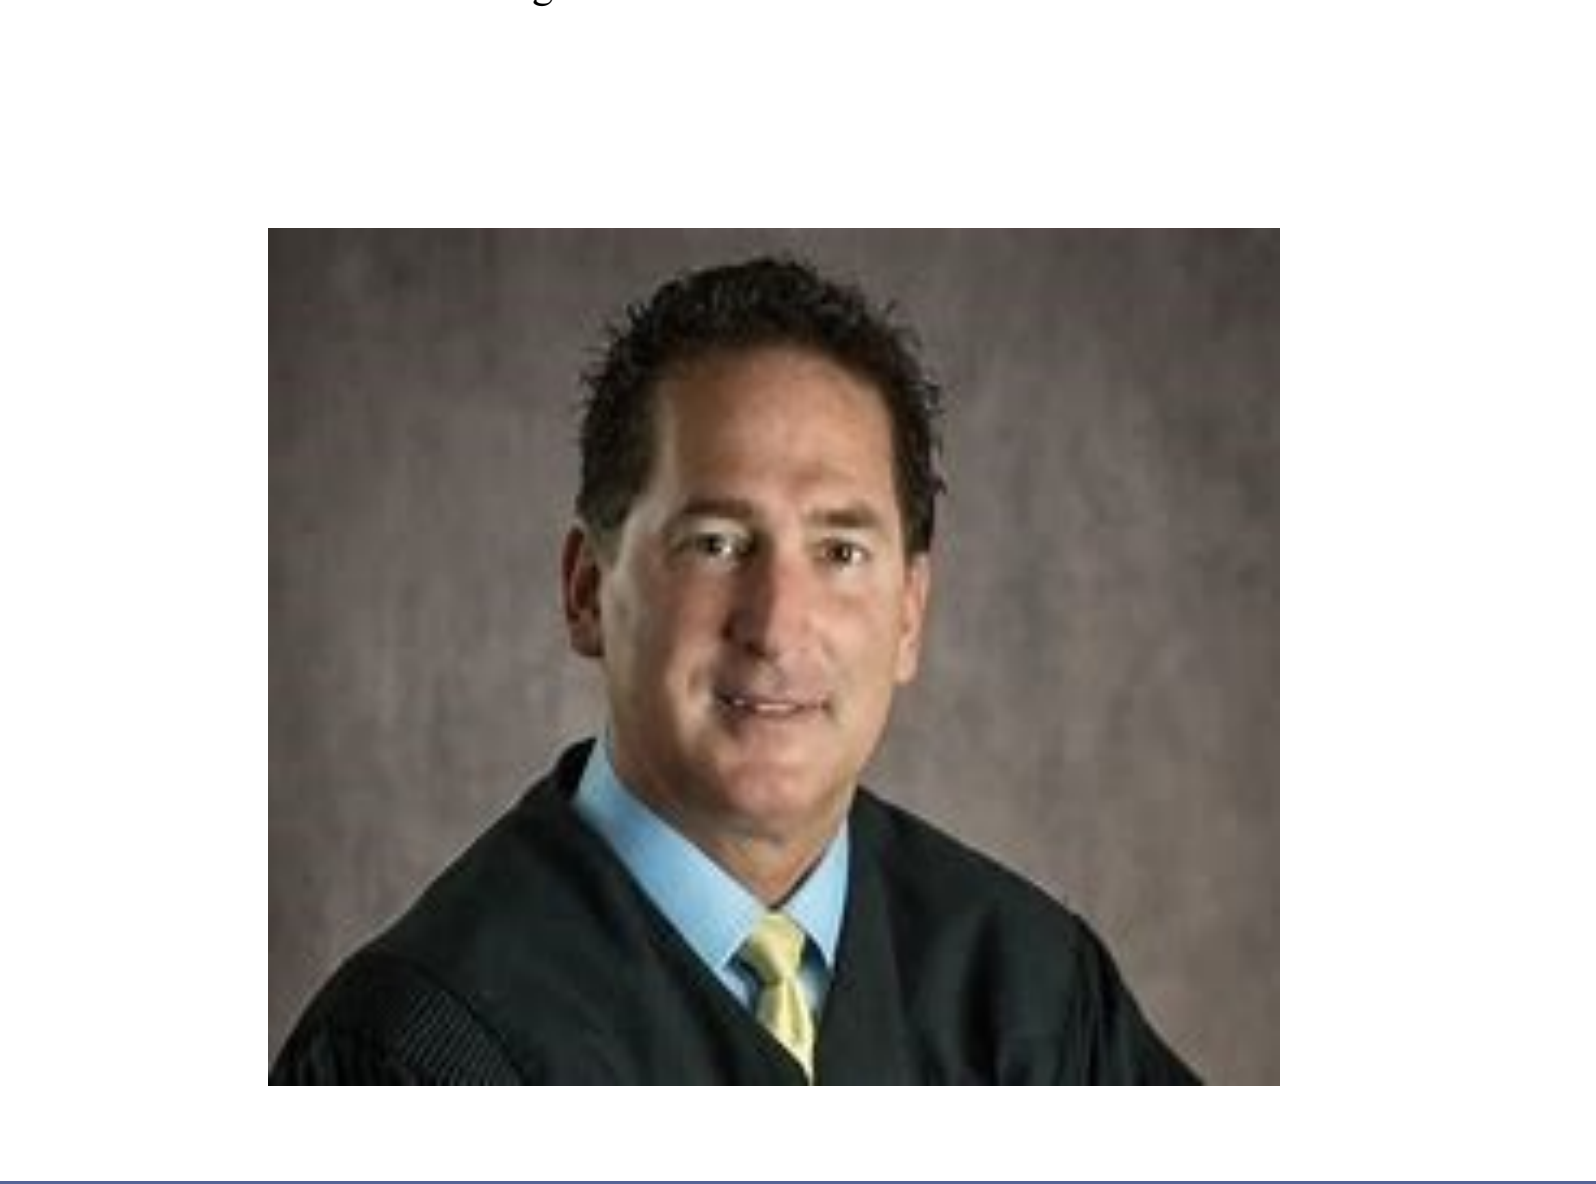

About five years ago, he began to play music again with his current band, the Risky Whiskey Boys. He enjoys riding his motorcycle, riding horses, and working on his family property on Frayser.

Judge David Pool was elected on August 4, 2022, by the citizens of Shelby County for Judge in Criminal Court Division 6.
